

COMMUNITY

RESOURCE GUIDE

Poudre School District

2016 - 2017 School Year

INTRODUCTION

ABOUT THIS GUIDE

The many community partners that serve youth and families want to do their best to support Poudre School District (PSD) school leaders and staff by ensuring they can connect students and families to relevant support resources.

While there are resources in the community designed to inform school staff about services, there remains a gap in information. To help bridge this gap and meet an immediate, identified need, the following compilation of resources was created to help principals and school staff easily find information about community resources in three key domains (Social and Emotional Support, Enrichment Activities, and Basic Needs).

This guide:

- is designed for school principals and staff.
- provides links to currently available resources that provide services within the PSD boundary.
- builds on existing information already available.
- is focused on services for youth and families generally, unless specifically noted.
- provides resources as a public service only. PSD does not endorse or recommend one organization over another.

The guide is not a comprehensive list of resource in the community, but rather is designed to direct PSD principals and staff to resources that align with needs occurring in their schools. As this is a first iteration of this resource, feedback will be sought about how useful it was and ways it could be improved.

HOW TO USE THIS GUIDE

This document is interactive. Hyperlinks can be found throughout that will help to navigate within the document or access external web resources. This guide is organized into three main domains:

Positive social and emotional development provides an important foundation for lifelong development and learning. Social and Emotional Development includes mental health, crisis counseling, physical/sexual abuse and neglect, LGBTQ resources, and diversity programs and services.
